

ExpoShakespeare. Food for the City

a cura di Mariacristina Cavecchi e Margaret Rose

We are pleased to invite you to the final meeting

Wednesday, 21 October, 9,30 at Brera Botanic Garden (Via privata Fratelli Gabba 10)

Performance of the three prize winning plays of the playwright competition:

Luigi Moroni, You must eat your dinner

Lisa Zanirato, Finisce tutto là --- Veronica Maccapani, La corruzione del latte with C. Arrigoni, S. Cavalli, F. Marani, G. Moroni, F. Urbano, F. Seebacher, S. Stillo, S. Zucchiati directed by Mauro Gentile of the company Teatro dell'Armadillo

Susan Marshall, costume historian and designer talks about, "I Must Eat My Dinner"

Storia e segreti di un giardino prezioso: guided visit to the garden by Cristina Puricelli

Organisation Cristina Paravano

Please confirm ASAP if you will be attending since places are restricted: cristina.paravano@unimi.it

We thank Professor Martin Kater, Director of the Botanical Garden, for his kind hospitality, and doctors Antonella Testa, outreach researcher, Brera Botanic and Angela Ronchi outreach researcher, Milan University for their support.